Union gives strength.

- Aesop

Affairs are easier of entrance than of exit; and it is but common prudence to see our way out before we venture in.

- Aesop

It is probably not love that makes the world go around, but rather those mutually supportive alliances through which partners recognize their dependence on each other for the achievement of shared and private goals.

- Allen, Fred A.

Let's face it. In most of life we really are interdependent. We need each other. Staunch independence is an illusion, but heavy dependence isn't healthy, either. The only position of long-term strength is interdependence: win/win.

- Anderson, Greg

Pleasure usually takes the form of me and now; joy is us and always.

- Ashton, Marvin J.

Men exist for the sake of one another.

- Aurelius, Marcus

Behold how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity.

- Bible

The world basically and fundamentally is constituted on the basis of harmony. Everything works in co-operation with something else.

- Bradley, Preston

Always try to do something for the other fellow and you will be agreeably surprised how things come your way -- how many pleasing things are done for you.

- Bristol, Claude M.

Doing things for others always pays dividends...

- Bristol, Claude M.

No man has come to true greatness who has not felt that his life belongs to his race, and that which God gives to him, He gives him for mankind.

- Brooks, Phillips

If one of us could ascend to the heavenly realm and for a few hours accompany the divine on His daily rounds, he would see below millions of his fellow humans busily hurling themselves into the passions, sports, and action of those around him. But if our observer had the power and omniscience of the Lord, he would also feel and sense, pulsing through and vibrating from every one of us here below, a desperate and unending plea, Notice me! I want to be known admired, and loved by the whole world! And it is this, this glorious weakness, this dependence of ours on each other, that makes some of us usually heroes and fools at the same time.

- Burry, Rev. Michael

There is nothing wrong in using people. The success never uses people except to their advantage.

- Caine, Mark

There is nothing that puts a man more in your debt than that he owes you nothing.

- Caine, Mark

You are beginning to see that any man to whom you can do favor is your friend, and that you can do a favor to almost anyone.

- Caine, Mark

It is through cooperation, rather than conflict, that your greatest successes will be derived

- Charell, Ralph

I felt compelled to perform -- to do my engagements and not let people down. And they supported me, although they weren?t aware how much it carried me through.

- Diana, Princess of Wales

No man is an island entire of itself; every man is a piece of the continent, a part of the main.

- Donne, John

It is one of the beautiful compensations of this life that no one can sincerely try to help another without helping himself.

- Warner, Charles Dudley

Each of us is here for a brief sojourn; for what purpose he knows not, though he senses it. But without deeper reflection one knows from daily life that one exists for other people.

- Einstein, Albert

A hundred times every day I remind myself that my inner and outer life depend on the labors of other men, living and dead, and that I must exert myself in order to give in the same measure as I have received and am still receiving.

- Einstein, Albert

How strange is the lot of us mortals! Each of us is here for a brief sojourn; for what purpose he knows not, though he senses it. But without deeper reflection one knows from daily life that one exists for other people.

- Einstein, Albert

Only strength can cooperate. Weakness can only beg.

- Eisenhower, Dwight D.

There is the sky, which is all men's together.

- Euripides

We must, indeed, all hang together or, most assuredly, we shall all hang separately.

- Franklin, Benjamin

If we do not hang together, we will all hang separately.

- Franklin, Benjamin

Now you can begin to see quite transparently that nothing purchased life is one of argument, If other people don't agree with you you're in big trouble. How far would you get in your work if nobody agreed that what you were doing had value?

- Frieseke, Frederick (Carl)

If we would just support each other -- that's ninety percent of the problem.

- Gardner, Edward

No matter what accomplishments you make, somebody helped you.

- Gibson, Althea

We are not going to be able to operate our Spaceship Earth successfully nor for much longer unless we see it as a whole spaceship and our fate as common. It has to be everybody or nobody.

- Fuller, Buckminster
