

Say Hello to your very own book of Quotes

QuotationsBook

Quotes by Campbell, Beatrix

from QuotationsBook.com

A society in which adults are estranged from the world of children, and often from their own childhood, tends to hear children's speech only as a foreign language, or as a lie. Children have been treated. as congenital fibbers, fakers and fantasiers.

- Campbell, Beatrix

QuotationsBook