

Say Hello to your very own book of Quotes

QuotationsBook

Quotes by Clark, Kenneth, Lord

from QuotationsBook.com

Opera, next to Gothic architecture, is one of the strangest inventions of Western man. It could not have been foreseen by any logical process.

- Clark, Kenneth, Lord

People sometimes tell me that they prefer barbarism to civilization. I doubt if they have given it a long enough trial. Like the people of Alexandria, they are bored by civilization; but all the evidence suggests that the boredom of barbarism is infinitely greater.

- Clark, Kenneth, Lord

QuotationsBook