Quotes by Apocrypha

from QuotationsBook.com

Apocrypha (from the Greek word meaning "those having been hidden away") are texts of uncertain authenticity or writings where the authorship is questioned. In Judeo-Christian theology, the term apocrypha refers to any collection of scriptural texts that falls outside the canon. Given that different denominations have different ideas about what constitutes canonical scripture, there are several different versions of the apocrypha.

A faithful friend is the medicine of life.

- Apocrypha

Seek not the things that are too hard for thee, neither search the things that are beyond thy strength.

- Apocrypha

The curiosity to know things has been given to man as a scourge.
