General Charles Andre Joseph Marie De Gaulle (November 22, 1890-November 9, 1970), was a French military leader and statesman.

Old age is a shipwreck.

- Gaulle, Charles De

Nothing great will ever be achieved without great men, and men are great only if they are determined to be so.

- Gaulle, Charles De

Diplomats are useful only in fair weather. As soon as it rains, they drown in every drop.

- Gaulle, Charles De

For glory gives herself only to those who have always dreamed of her.

- Gaulle, Charles De

The graveyards are full of indispensable men.

- Gaulle, Charles De

When I am right, I get angry. Churchill gets angry when he is wrong. So we were often angry at each other.

- Gaulle, Charles De

In order to become the master, the politician poses as the servant.

- Gaulle, Charles De

How can you govern a country with two hundred and forty six varieties of cheese?

- Gaulle, Charles De

No country without an atom bomb could properly consider itself independent.

- Gaulle, Charles De

I respect only those who resist me; but I cannot tolerate them.

- Gaulle, Charles De

Since a politician never believes what he says, he is surprised when others believe him.

- Gaulle, Charles De

I have come to the conclusion that politics is too serious a matter to be left to the politicians.

- Gaulle, Charles De

Nothing strengthens authority so much as silence.

- Gaulle, Charles De

France has lost a battle. But France has not lost the war.

- Gaulle, Charles De

Silence is the ultimate weapon of power.

- Gaulle, Charles De

In the tumult of men and events, solitude was my temptation; now it is my friend. What other satisfaction can be sought once you have confronted History?

- Gaulle, Charles De

Deliberation is the work of many men. Action, of one alone.

- Gaulle, Charles De

Every man of action has a strong dose of egoism, pride, hardness, and cunning. But all those things will be regarded as high qualities if he can make them the means to achieve great ends.

- Gaulle, Charles De

Faced with crisis, the man of character falls back on himself. He imposes his own stamp of action, takes responsibility for it, makes it his own.

- Gaulle, Charles De

Treaties are like roses and young girls -- they last while they last

- Gaulle, Charles De

The sword is the axis of the world, and grandeur is indivisible.

- Gaulle, Charles De

Church is the only place where someone speaks to me and I do not have to answer back.
