from QuotationsBook.com

The Right Honourable Sir Edward Richard George Heath, KG , MBE (July 9, 1916 July 17, 2005), soldier and politician, was Prime Minister of the United Kingdom from 1970 to 1974 and leader of the Conservative Party from 1965 to 1975. His spell in office represented a transition between the traditional, 'squirearchical' leadership of the party rotating among senior figures such as Harold Macmillan and that of later, self consciously meritocratic figures starting with Margaret Thatcher.

We are the trade union for pensioners and children, the trade union for the disabled and the sick... the trade union for the nation as a whole.

- Heath, Edward

The unpleasant and unacceptable face of capitalism.
