Mark Hellinger (March 21, 1903 to December 21, 1947) is primarily known as a New York theatre critic and reviewer. The Mark Hellinger Theatre in New York City is named for him. Produced a number of films including his last The Naked City, a 1948 black-and-white film noir for which he also provided the narration. Hellinger and his wife Gladys Glad, a cast member of Ziegfeld Follies, are buried in Sleepy Hollow Cemetery, Sleepy Hollow, New York.

Every murder turns on a bright hot light, and a lot of people have to walk out of the shadows.
