Benjamin Jowett (April 15, 1817 - October 1, 1893) was an English scholar and theologian, Master of Balliol College, Oxford.

In every veil you see, the Divine Beauty is concealed, making every heart a slave to him. In love to him the heart finds its life; in desire for him the soul finds its happiness. The heart which loves a fair one here, though it knows it not, is really his lover.
