Each success only buys an admission ticket to a more difficult problem.

- Kissinger, Henry

Even a paranoid can have enemies.

- Kissinger, Henry

It is, after all, the responsibility of the expert to operate the familiar and that of the leader to transcend it.

- Kissinger, Henry

We cannot always assure the future of our friends; we have a better chance of assuring our future if we remember who our friends are.

- Kissinger, Henry

For other nations, utopia is a blessed past never to be recovered; for Americans it is just beyond the horizon.

- Kissinger, Henry

If you don't know where you are going, every road will get you nowhere.

- Kissinger, Henry

Blessed are the people whose leaders can look destiny in the eye without flinching but also without attempting to play God.

- Kissinger, Henry

The task of the leader is to get his people from where they are to where they have not been.

- Kissinger, Henry

Leaders must invoke an alchemy of great vision.

- Kissinger, Henry

The superpowers often behave like two heavily armed blind men feeling their way around a room, each believing himself in mortal peril from the other, whom he assumes to have perfect vision.

- Kissinger, Henry

The essence of this man 'Richard M. Nixon' is loneliness.

- Kissinger, Henry

We are all the President's men.

- Kissinger, Henry

Moderation is a virtue only in those who are thought to have an alternative.
