Was this the face that launched a thousand ships, and burnt the topless towers of Ilium?

- Marlowe, Christopher

Nature that framed us of four elements, warring within our breasts for regiment, doth teach us all to have aspiring minds.

- Marlowe, Christopher

Is it not passing brave to be a King and ride in triumph through Persepolis?

- Marlowe, Christopher

Hell hath no limits, nor is circumscrib'd one self place; for where we are is Hell, and where Hell is, there must we ever be.

- Marlowe, Christopher

What are kings, when regiment is gone, but perfect shadows in a sunshine day?

- Marlowe, Christopher

That perfect bliss and sole felicity, the sweet fruition of an earthly crown.

- Marlowe, Christopher

Come live with me, and be my love, and we will all the pleasures prove.

- Marlowe, Christopher

Who ever loved that loved not at first sight?

- Marlowe, Christopher

Where both deliberate, the love is slight: Who ever lov'd, that lov'd not at first sight?

- Marlowe, Christopher

You stars that reigned at my nativity, whose influence hath allotted death and hell.

- Marlowe, Christopher

I count religion but a childish toy, and hold there is no sin but innocence.

- Marlowe, Christopher

O, thou art fairer than the evening air clad in the beauty of a thousand stars.

- Marlowe, Christopher

All places are alike, and every earth is fit for burial.

- Marlowe, Christopher
