Francis Beaumont (1584 - 1616) was a dramatist in the English Renaissance theatre, most famous for his collaborations with John Fletcher.

Faith without works is like a bird without wings; though she may hop with her companions on earth, yet she will never fly with them to heaven.

- Beaumont, Francis

The true way to gain much, is never to desire to gain too much.

- Beaumont, Francis

Interest makes some people blind, and others quick-sighted.

- Beaumont, Francis

It is more noble by silence to avoid an injury than by argument to overcome it.

- Beaumont, Francis

Our natures are a lot like oil, mix us with anything else, and we strive to swim on top.

- Beaumont, Francis

There is a method in man's wickedness; it grows up by degrees.

- Beaumont, Francis

Let no man fear to die, we love to sleep all, and death is but the sounder sleep.

- Beaumont, Francis
