Quotes by Wright, Frank Lloyd

from QuotationsBook.com

Frank Lloyd Wright (June 8, 1867 April 9, 1959) was one of the most prominent and influential architects of the first half of the 20th century. To this day he is easily America's most famous architect (topping Philip Johnson, Paul Laszlo, Richard Neutra, and Louis Kahn) and still extremely well-known in the public eye.

An idea is salvation by imagination.

- Wright, Frank Lloyd

I hate intellectuals. They are from the top down. I am from the bottom up.

- Wright, Frank Lloyd

The longer I live the more beautiful life becomes. If you foolishly ignore beauty, you will soon find yourself without it. Your life will be impoverished. But if you invest in beauty, it will remain with you all the days of your life.

- Wright, Frank Lloyd

All fine architectural values are human vales, else not valuable.

- Wright, Frank Lloyd

A doctor can bury his mistakes, but an architect can only advise his clients to plant vines.

- Wright, Frank Lloyd

The physician can bury his mistakes, but the architect can only advise his clients to plant vines.

- Wright, Frank Lloyd

Early in life, I had to choose between honest arrogance and hypocritical humility. I chose honest arrogance and have seen no occasions to change.

- Wright, Frank Lloyd

I find it hard to believe that the machine would go into the creative artist's hand even were that magic hand in true place. It has been too far exploited by industrialism and science at expense to art and true religion.

- Wright, Frank Lloyd

Pictures deface walls more often than they decorate them.

- Wright, Frank Lloyd

The present is the ever moving shadow that divides yesterday from tomorrow. In that lies hope.

- Wright, Frank Lloyd

TV -- chewing gum for the eyes.

- Wright, Frank Lloyd

The truth is more important than the facts.

- Wright, Frank Lloyd

Youth is a quality, not a matter of circumstances.

- Wright, Frank Lloyd

The screech and mechanical uproar of the big city turns the citified head, fills citified ears -- as the song of birds, wind in the trees, animal cries, or as the voices and songs of his loved ones once filled his heart. He is sidewalk-happy.

- Wright, Frank Lloyd

To look at the cross-section of any plan of a big city is to look at something like the section of a fibrous tumor.

- Wright, Frank Lloyd

I believe in God, only I spell it Nature.

- Wright, Frank Lloyd

Oh Rat's
