Quotes about Horror

from QuotationsBook.com

I think of horror films as art, as films of confrontation. Films that make you confront aspects of your own life that are difficult to face. Just because you're making a horror film doesn't mean you can't make an artful film.

- Cronenberg, David

I don't believe in evil, I believe only in horror. In nature there is no evil, only an abundance of horror: the plagues and the blights and the ants and the maggots.

- Dinesen, Isak

I don't believe in evil, I believe only in horror. In nature there is no evil, only an abundance of horror: the plagues and the blights and the ants and the maggots.

- Dinesen, Isak

Where there is no imagination there is no horror.

- Doyle, Sir Arthur Conan

One might say that the true subject of the horror genre is the struggle for recognition of all that our civilization represses and oppresses.

- Wood, Robin
